Women Of The Nation, Pray!

Joshua 23 is the chapter when Joshua is now 110 years old and he knows he won't be living on earth much longer. He makes his final message to the nation of Israel and I believe it is something we need to be praying over America as well.

Righteous Judge,

I hear the words of Joshua ringing in my spirit as we pray together for our nation, America. You have given us all the land from border to border and from coast to coast. We have taken possession of it. Someone before us received it, fought for it, conquered it, and lived in it, taming a wild land into the beautiful cultivated nation we enjoy today. We receive this land and nation as our inheritance from You! Yahweh, our God, You will absolutely keep Your promises to us. You will drive out all our enemies and make them retreat before us so that we may possess this land and not lose it to the darkness that would try to prevail against us.

We hear Your command to be strong and steadfast. We hear Your warning to be careful to obey fully what is written in Your word and we will not deviate from it. We will not intermingle with the nations that are left among us nor speak the names of their gods when we take an oath. Father, Your words are clear and we have broken them over and over again as a nation. We have intermingled and allowed the heathen culture to influence the minds of Your people. Forgive us, Lord, for spending more time being influenced by Hollywood, government, and media of all sources, more than You, Your Spirit, and Your Word influencing us. It is no wonder the people of America have been filled with fear. They have broken all Your rules, and not heeded Your warnings and that's Your people, Father! We are not speaking of those who don't know You as Lord. We repent for those who say they know You!

You warned us to not worship or pray to the gods of this world and yet, Father, so many curses, false reports, negative statements of fear have been spoken from Your people. We repent of worshiping other things and putting faith in other things like a vaccine when our faith should only be in You. Whether a person decides to take it or not to take it should never be the issue, Lord. The issue is whether we trust the vaccine, instead of trusting You. When a vaccine can make a people feel safe but You, as our God and Lord does not make them feel safe, then we know whose God is the Lord. Forgive us, Lord.

You warned us to cling tightly to Yahweh, for You are our God. Yahweh has driven out great and powerful nations before us! No one was able to withstand us, for You, Yahweh, our God, fights for us as You promised You would do! That is why just one of us causes a thousand of our enemies to run away! Help us, Lord, to remember this! Above all else, we must remember to keep watch over our hearts, so as to always love You, Yahweh, our God.

You warn us if we ever turn away and make alliances with the nations that remain in our midst, and establish friendly relations with them and intermarry, then we may be sure that You, Yahweh, our God, will no longer drive them out before us. Instead they will become a snare and a trap for us! They will be like whips on our backsides and thorns in our eyes until we perish from the good land that You, Yahweh, our God has given us!

We know with all our hearts and souls that not one promise of Yahweh, our God has failed. Without a doubt, every promise You have made to us, You have kept. You have fulfilled them all. Just as You have kept every wonderful promise You ever made to us, so Yahweh, our God, will carry out every threat and will obliterate us completely from this good land which You have given us. But if we break the covenant You, our God, Yahweh, made with us and worship other gods and bow down to them, Your anger will blaze against us. You will punish us, and You will remove us from the face of this good land that You have given us.

Oh, Righteous Judge, Your words are powerful that came through the leader of the nation of Israel, through Joshua. Now we pray those same prayers and ask for Your blessings upon those of us who have chosen You as our God and our Lord. May we stand in the gap for those of our nation, America, who do not yet know You. We cry out for a holy revival, and a baptism of fire across the nation in the name of Jesus Christ! Amen.

Thank you all for standing with me as watchmen and women on the wall of prayer and intercession. Don't lose hope! We have only just begun to win! We continue to push back the darkness! Keep praying with me! God is on the move.

A new season is here. I felt it when it changed. Over the past few weeks we have stepped into a new season. Old things have passed away and all things have become new. We will not remember the things of old but look to the future from whence comes our help. This new season is in preparation to house and carry the glory of God that will be here shortly. Harvest season is here. It's not coming; it's here. Get prepared to receive in every realm your harvest from years of planting and rain. Harvest is here. Salvations, healing, and finances all are breaking forth. Look for it. It's here.

Keep praying with me. Shields up! Swords drawn. Darkness is on the run!

We push forward in Him,
